Tax Spending Bingo Cards

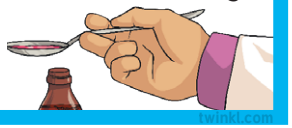

The government spends money on services that help us stay safe, including the police and fire services, law courts and prisons.

The local council spends money on priorities for the local area. The amount spent on each aspect differs from place to place. Priorities can include: local street lighting, roads, children's services, cultural services and refuse services.

The NHS is the National Health Service. This is a healthcare system that provides free care for anyone who needs it. Money from the government pays for doctors and nurses to help people who are ill, in hospitals and in community clinics.

The government spends money giving people pensions. This is an amount of money to contribute to living costs of people over a certain age. The age at which you can get your pension depends on when you were born.

State-funded schools receive money from the government. This money goes towards funding schools, teachers and providing resources to educate children.

The government spends money on national transport services including the improvement of railways and major roads.

The council might spend money on road maintenance and street lighting. This can include repairing potholes or painting lines on the road to ensure the safety of road users.

The government spends money on national defence. This money funds the armed forces and national security to keep people safe along with foreign aid to help in other countries if there is a problem.

twinkl.com

Tax Spending Bingo Cards

The government spends money on national transport services including the improvement of railways and major roads.

State-funded schools receive money from the government. This money goes towards funding schools, teachers and providing resources to educate children.

The government spends money on national defence. This money funds the armed forces and national security to keep people safe along with foreign aid to help in other countries if there is a problem.

The local council spends money on priorities for the local areas. The amount spent on each aspect differs from place to place. Priorities can include; local street lighting, roads, children's services, cultural services and refuse services.

The council might spend money on road maintenance and street lighting. This can include repairing potholes or painting lines on the road to ensure the safety of road users.

The government spends money on services that help us stay safe, including the police and fire services, law courts and prisons.

The government spends money giving people pensions. This is an amount of money to contribute to living costs of people over a certain age. The age at which you can get your pension depends on when you were born.

The NHS is the National Health Service. This is a healthcare system that provides free care for anyone who needs it. Money from the government pays for doctors and nurses to help people who are ill, in hospitals and in community clinics.

twinkl.com

Tax Spending Bingo Cards

The government spends money on national defence. This money funds the armed forces and national security to keep people safe along with foreign aid to help in other countries if there is a problem.

The council might spend money on road maintenance and street lighting. This can include repairing potholes or painting lines on the road to ensure the safety of road users.

The government spends money on national transport services including the improvement of railways and major roads.

The local council spends money on priorities for the local areas. The amount spent on each aspect differs from place to place. Priorities can include; local street lighting, roads, children's services, cultural services and refuse services.

The NHS is the National Health Service. This is a healthcare system that provides free care for anyone who needs it. Money from the government pays for doctors and nurses to help people who are ill, in hospitals and in community clinics.

The government spends money giving people pensions. This is an amount of money to contribute to living costs of people over a certain age. The age at which you can get your pension depends on when you were born.

The government spends money on services that help us stay safe, including the police and fire services, law courts and prisons.

State-funded schools receive money from the government. This money goes towards funding schools, teachers and providing resources to educate children.

twinkl.com

Tax Spending Bingo Cards

The government spends money on national transport services including the improvement of railways and major roads.

The government spends money on national defence. This money funds the armed forces and national security to keep people safe along with foreign aid to help in other countries if there is a problem.

State-funded schools receive money from the government. This money goes towards funding schools, teachers and providing resources to educate children.

The government spends money giving people pensions. This is an amount of money to contribute to living costs of people over a certain age. The age at which you can get your pension depends on when you were born.

The council might spend money on road maintenance and street lighting. This can include repairing potholes or painting lines on the road to ensure the safety of road users.

The government spends money on services that help us stay safe, including the police and fire services, law courts and prisons.

The local council spends money on priorities for the local area. The amount spent on each aspect differs from place to place. Priorities can include: local street lighting, roads, children's services, cultural services and refuse services.

The NHS is the National Health Service. This is a healthcare system that provides free care for anyone who needs it. Money from the government pays for doctors and nurses to help people who are ill, in hospitals and in community clinics.

This resource is fully in line with the Learning Outcomes and Core Themes outlined in the PSHE Association Programme of Study.

Tax Spending Bingo Cards

The government spends money giving people pensions. This is an amount of money to contribute to living costs of people over a certain age. The age at which you can get your pension depends on when you were born.

The local council spends money on priorities for the local area. The amount spent on each aspect differs from place to place. Priorities can include: local street lighting, roads, children's services, cultural services and refuse services.

The government spends money on national defence. This money funds the armed forces and national security to keep people safe along with foreign aid to help in other countries if there is a problem.

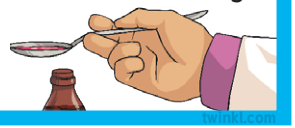

The council might spend money on road maintenance and street lighting. This can include repairing potholes or painting lines on the road to ensure the safety of road users.

State-funded schools receive money from the government. This money goes towards funding schools, teachers and providing resources to educate children.

The NHS is the National Health Service. This is a healthcare system that provides free care for anyone who needs it. Money from the government pays for doctors and nurses to help people who are ill, in hospitals and in community clinics.

The government spends money on national transport services including the improvement of railways and major roads.

The government spends money on services that help us stay safe, including the police and fire services, law courts and prisons.

This resource is fully in line with the Learning Outcomes and Core Themes outlined in the PSHE Association Programme of Study.

Tax Spending Bingo Cards

The government spends money on national transport services including the improvement of railways and major roads.

The government spends money giving people pensions. This is an amount of money to contribute to living costs of people over a certain age. The age at which you can get your pension depends on when you were born.

The government spends money on national defence. This money funds the armed forces and national security to keep people safe along with foreign aid to help in other countries if there is a problem.

State-funded schools receive money from the government. This money goes towards funding schools, teachers and providing resources to educate children.

The council might spend money on road maintenance and street lighting. This can include repairing potholes or painting lines on the road to ensure the safety of road users.

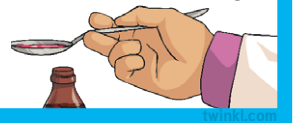

The government spends money on services that help us stay safe, including the police and fire services, law courts and prisons.

The local council spends money on priorities for the local areas. The amount spent on each aspect differs from place to place. Priorities can include; local street lighting, roads, children's services, cultural services and refuse services.

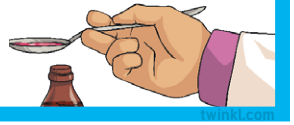

The NHS is the National Health Service. This is a healthcare system that provides free care for anyone who needs it. Money from the government pays for doctors and nurses to help people who are ill, in hospitals and in community clinics.

This resource is fully in line with the Learning Outcomes and Core Themes outlined in the PSHE Association Programme of Study.

Tax Spending Bingo Cards

The NHS is the National Health Service. This is a healthcare system that provides free care for anyone who needs it. Money from the government pays for doctors and nurses to help people who are ill, in hospitals and in community clinics.

The government spends money on national transport services including the improvement of railways and major roads.

The council might spend money on road maintenance and street lighting. This can include repairing potholes or painting lines on the road to ensure the safety of road users.

The government spends money on services that help us stay safe, including the police and fire services, law courts and prisons.

The government spends money on national defence. This money funds the armed forces and national security to keep people safe along with foreign aid to help in other countries if there is a problem.

State-funded schools receive money from the government. This money goes towards funding schools, teachers and providing resources to educate children.

The local council spends money on priorities for the local areas. The amount spent on each aspect differs from place to place. Priorities can include; local street lighting, roads, children's services, cultural services and refuse services.

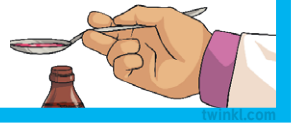

The government spends money giving people pensions. This is an amount of money to contribute to living costs of people over a certain age. The age at which you can get your pension depends on when you were born.

twinkl.com

Tax Spending Bingo Cards

The NHS is the National Health Service. This is a healthcare system that provides free care for anyone who needs it. Money from the government pays for doctors and nurses to help people who are ill, in hospitals and in community clinics.

The council might spend money on road maintenance and street lighting. This can include repairing potholes or painting lines on the road to ensure the safety of road users.

The government spends money on national defence. This money funds the armed forces and national security to keep people safe along with foreign aid to help in other countries if there is a problem.

The government spends money on services that help us stay safe, including the police and fire services, law courts and prisons.

State-funded schools receive money from the government. This money goes towards funding schools, teachers and providing resources to educate children.

The local council spends money on priorities for the local areas. The amount spent on each aspect differs from place to place. Priorities can include; local street lighting, roads, children's services, cultural services and refuse services.

The government spends money giving people pensions. This is an amount of money to contribute to living costs of people over a certain age. The age at which you can get your pension depends on when you were born.

The government spends money on national transport services including the improvement of railways and major roads.

twinkl.com