(link back to the fun song from the end of the last lesson)	Topic - Lesson 4 Resources • Google maps – satellite view • Weblink • Paper, ruler, pencil Think about our work on human and physical features we have covered this year. Give yourself 30 seconds to list as many human and then physical features as you can. What human and physical features does Holyport have now? Look at a satellite image of Holyport using google maps. Draw a table that has 2 columns - human and physical features and 2 rows for Holyport present day and Holyport 1892-1914. Write in the physical and human features that have been identified. Use this link to show what Holyport was like 100	Science Resources – • Week 4 powerpoint Discuss the following question – what if penguins could fly? You could think about: Would penguins look different if they were able to fly? If penguins could fly would there be a greater variety of food available? If their wings were bigger would they still be able to swim? Every year emperor penguins walk 70 miles to get food for their young – would flying make this easier? Is it better to be able to dive to great depths (450m) or fly to get food? Flightless birds all evolved from their flying ancestors. Being able to fly could make life in the Antarctic much easier for penguins. The gruelling march of the emperor penguins would take a few hours, if flown, rather than many days! Escaping	Art We are going to sketch our own portrait using the image you took/saved last week. Have a look at the portraits powerpoint and discuss what portraits are. Use the step by step guide to draw the outline of your face. Add facial features to the portraits using the adding features sheet. Add your own detail remembering to look at the photos of yourself. What have been the main changes in Holyport? What might Holyport look like in another 100 years? Write a prediction underneath your table.	predators, such as leopard seals would be easier. In nature, adaptations are usually related to survival and reproduction. Scientists believe penguins stopped being able to fly as it is likely there were no predators where they lived long ago. Penguins rely on the oceans for food and have adapted over time to become more aquatic, exchanging wings for flippers. The changes to their wings and increasing body size allowed them to become more efficient for swimming and diving, but reduced their ability to fly. Watch the video on penguins. Work though the slides on evolution and adaptation and watch the video on amazing adaptations. Task - Children to present their work in a creative way showing how animals might adapt to their habitats.
