Hi, I work as a shopkeeper.

My job involves serving customers.

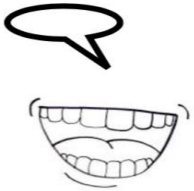

I help people find what they need in the shop and I need to keep the shop neat and tidy.

I need to read and write the labels on the shelves. Also, I use the till to write receipts to show what customers buy and how much they pay.

Speaking politely and listening to customers is very important. We want customers to be happy so that they come back to our shop.

Hi, I work as a scientist.

My job involves researching and carrying out experiments.

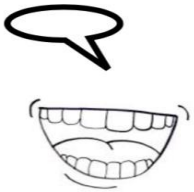

Sometimes I work in a lab with other scientists.

I have to read a lot of research written by other scientists. Also, I make notes about the work I have done each day

Speaking to other scientists helps me to learn about what they are doing. Also, I often need to tell them what to do during an experiment. Listening to each other helps us to work together and come up with new and exciting inventions.

Hi, I work as a journalist.

My job involves sharing stories that are important for people to know about.

Sometimes I write for newspapers or websites and I share stories on camera for tv.

I read a lot of true stories. I then decide what is important to write about and share. Writing facts and news for others to read is a big part of my job.

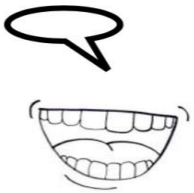

Speaking to others helps me to learn more information. Sometimes I need to interview people by asking questions and listening carefully to their answers.

Hi, I work as a doctor.

My job involves helping patients to stay fit and healthy.

People come to me if they don't feel well or if they need some advice.

I need to read a lot of information about different health problems. I am always learning from what I read. Also, I write prescriptions to say which medicine my patients need.

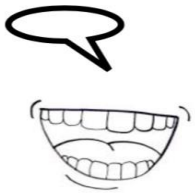

Listening to how patients feel is very important in my job. Also, I need to speak clearly so that they understand the advice I give them.

Hi, I work as a chef.

My job involves cooking for customers who come to the restaurant.

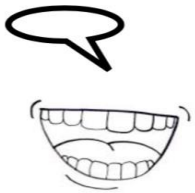

I get to create new menus and recipes that taste great. Working in a team helps to share ideas and cook quickly.

I need to read and write the recipes that we cook from. Also, I read the orders from the waiters so that I know what people want to eat.

Restaurant kitchens are noisy places. Chefs need to tell each other what they are doing and what still needs to be done.

Hi, I work as a builder.

My job involves working as part of a team.

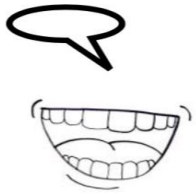

I help to plan what buildings are going to look like and then build them.

We need to read and write careful instructions to follow plans. Also, there are safety signs everywhere on the building site. Safety comes first!

Everybody must work together as a team so speaking and listening to other people on the building site is very important.
